Founded in 2005, TER Industries is a Chinese company specialising in the manufacture of shoring products, formwork, work platforms, and access systems. Our state-of-the-art equipment enables us to process with both steel and aluminum raw materials.

Our factory and offices are based in Nantong, a coastal city 130km away from Shanghai; we thus benefit from a very convenient geographical location with close and easy accesses to the various motorway and port infrastructures.

Behind our products, there is a team of experienced and specialised people, including but not limiting to those in our design office and in our inspection office, who are on hand to help you design and manufacture your products while rigorously complying with the ISO 9001-2015 by TÜV.

Committed to a process of continuous improvement and sustainable development, our only objective is the customer satisfaction. Our genuine know-how and expertise have continued to evolve with the best industrial practices, enabling us to provide a range of personalized solutions to each of our customers world wide.

